

Dulles To Ask Russia's Help On Deadlocked Korean Peace

By JOHN M. HIGHTOWER
BERLIN (AP)—Secretary of State Dulles has decided to ask Soviet Foreign Minister Vyacheslav M. Molotov to use his influence with the Chinese Communists in an effort to break the Panmunjom deadlock on a Korean peace conference.

Dulles will make his move in Big Four secret talks here Monday.

At that time the question of Korea is to be brought up among the foreign ministers in connection with a Soviet proposal for a Big Five conference, including Communist China.

The United States position, diplomatic informants said, is that the American government will categorically reject any five-power conference which is of such a character as to recognize the Chinese Communist regime as one of the great powers. But it is willing to deal with Red China on specific and limited issues which can only be handled in that way.

Attack Workers

A Communist crackdown on East German workers speaking out against Molotov's plan for the unification of Germany paralleled today's final session of the second week of the Big Four conference.

East German police made scores of arrests. Interior Minister Willi Stoph, directing the crackdown, warned at an East Berlin rally last night that the Red government "will sharply suppress every attempt to disrupt democratic development of the republic." The warning came as a caution against any German demonstrations during the weekend recess of the Big Four.

Feeble Opposition

Outbursts of opposition, all relatively feeble, developed in five scattered East German cities in the past five days. They were simply shouts of protest against speakers lauding the declaration by Molotov that the best way to unite Germany and prevent a resurgence of Hitlerism was to pattern a new united nation after police-dominated East Germany.

The Molotov plan, pegged to the idea of forming a provisional government in which the Communists would have an equal voice with the West Germans, has brought the Big Four parley to a near stall.

The three Western ministers, with U.S. Secretary of State Dulles as leadoff man, declared that unless Molotov was ready to negotiate instead of lecture and denounce, there was little value in talking further at this meeting about uniting Germany.

The Western ministers said clearly they had had enough of it. But not Molotov. In his concluding word at last night's session, he demanded further discussion of Germany's future.

So today's final session of the second week of the conference was given over to the problem.

HISTORIANS TO GET OLD GAR POST RECORDS

The records of Corporal Skelly Post No. 9, Department of Pennsylvania, Grand Army of the Republic, will be turned over to the Adams County Historical Society, the local camp of the Sons of Union Veterans decided at its meeting Friday evening in the GAR rooms on E. Middle St.

Decision to turn the records over to the county historical group was made to permit them to be more available to historians and to interested persons and to permit their being included with other papers covering the same period of time.

The Corporal Skelly post, one of the first GAR posts established in the state, was named for Cpl. John H. Skelly, a Gettysburg youth who was a member of Company F, 87th Regiment, Pennsylvania Volunteer Infantry. Wounded at the battle of Carter's Woods, near Winchester, Va., on June 15, 1863, he died in the hospital at Winchester on July 12 of that year.

Found During Renovation

Once one of the most active of Gettysburg organizations, the GAR post purchased the present home of the SUV, which then was the former Methodist Church, in 1880. The organization passed out of existence a number of years ago with the death of the last members.

Included among the official records of the post to be turned over to the historical society will be a number of papers relating to the post found recently by the paint committee of the SUV which is engaged in renovating the interior of the post home.

Among the members of the committee, which is repainting the entire interior, are David Tawney, Arthur Warman, Chester Schriver, Jesse E. Snyder, Paul Snyder, Allen Oyler, Guyon E. Buehler and James Rose. The committee received the thanks of the camp Friday evening and is continuing its work today.

POSA To Use Rooms

Commander Wilburn Nett presided at Friday's session. It was announced that the POS of A will

Here And There
News Collected At Random

Across the land the week of February 7 through 13 will be observed as the 44th anniversary of Boy Scouts of America. The theme will be "Forward on Liberty's Team." More than 3,300,000 Cub Scouts, Boy Scouts, Explorers and their adult leaders will observe this anniversary. Deserved tribute will be paid then, on local, state and national levels, to adult volunteer leaders of 89,000 Scout organizations for the contribution they are making to the boyhood of America.

The honorary president of Boy Scouts of America is Dwight D. Eisenhower, President of the United States of America. About eight months ago, for the first time since World War II, the Boy Scout organization was called upon by the President to carry out a national Good Turn, throughout this year in the field of conservation of our natural resources—soil, water, minerals, forests, grassland and wildlife. President Eisenhower pointed out that the future of our country depends largely on how these resources are managed today and in the years ahead. He wrote to Arthur A. Schuck, chief Scout executive of the Boy Scouts of America, expressing

SPRAY PLANS DISCUSSED BY FRUIT GROWERS

Spray schedules for the year were the principal topic at this morning's sessions of the annual all-day meeting of the Adams County Fruit Growers Association at the Knouse Foods Plant at Peach Glen.

Specialists from State University and scientists from the State University Experimental Laboratory at Arendtsville headed the discussion on sprays for peaches, apples, cherries, plums and prunes.

Of particular interest was a special apple spray schedule intended to give better yields and finish than the regular apple sprays used with great success over the past several years. The regular applespray program based on sulphur-ferbam and parathion in the early season sprays has not given satisfactory finish on varieties such as Stayman, Golden Delicious, Jonathan and Red Delicious, according to the specialists.

Striking increases in yield have occurred on Stayman where no sulphur was used, they reported. The better finish spray is based, they said, on an attempt to balance pest control, fruit finish and yield in such fashion that while the cost per acre is higher, the cost per bushel, or per dollar of income, is less, especially on Stayman.

Warning From Experts

The experts warned however that Crag 341-mercury and captan are partially effective in control of rust but cannot be depended upon to control severe outbreaks. Where the rusts cause a major problem, ferbam is the most effective material. Both captan and Crag 341 give excellent scab control where sprays are started before the first scab infection, but captan cannot be depended upon to give "back-action" or after-rain control. Recommended per 100 gallons of spray for the dormant period are two quarts of DN 289 or Liquid 318, or 1½ quarts of Liquid DN. For the delayed

CIRCULATION UP 20 PER CENT AT COUNTY LIBRARY

A 20 per cent increase in book circulation last month over January of 1953 pointed up the pressing need for more books for young people at the Adams County Free Library during the February meeting of the library's board of directors.

Reports submitted by the librarian, Mrs. Mary S. Wilson, showed that circulation last month totaled 20,597 as compared with 16,492 for January of last year.

"We need a lot more books for many of the books we carry on the bookmobile are badly worn and a considerable number must soon be withdrawn from circulation because they are worn out. Our growing circulation rate cuts shorter the life of our books," she pointed out.

Need $4,000 For Addition

Directors pointed out that the 20 per cent increase over last January topped a previous increase in the preceding year and one member of the board added: "Our book budget hasn't been increasing at the same rate."

At the two-hour session of the board the directors went over plans for a campaign to raise $4,000 to erect a new garage and stack and workroom at the rear of the main library building which would house the new bookmobile to be delivered in the spring, furnish badly needed space and provide convenient storage space for books headed for and returning from bookmobile circulation.

The directors also discussed plans for developing a public parking area at the rear of the library, landscaping of the library grounds including removal of the 100-year-old red brick building that once was the sheriff's stable. Logan Brent, Gettysburg R. 3, has agreed to remove the building without charge and John D. Teeter has offered to do heavy grading work on the parking area without charge.

Plan Special Meeting

The board decided to call a special meeting of the library association to act on a board recommendation.

Her death at first was attributed to a fall down stairs outside the family's second floor apartment last Sunday.

But the state's attorney John Gutknecht said two persons told his investigators that Woolard beat his wife severely Sunday morning after they returned from a saloon. Gutknecht said Woolard denied he had beaten his wife, claiming she was fatally injured in a fall down a flight of stairs.

The three Woolard children are John 4; Etta, 3; and Joy, 18 months. Another son, Charles Jr., 6, was found dead in bed Jan. 23 after he had become ill with a throat infection the day before.

ARMY OFFICER DIES OF POLIO

SEATTLE (AP)—Creeping death claimed an Army officer early today, even as a Coast Guard PBV crew prepared to take off on a mercy mission.

The officer, who was not identified, died from an acute attack of poliomyelitis aboard the troop transport Gen. M. M. Patrick at 2:30 a.m. as the big gray ship churned the waters of the Pacific toward Seattle.

Death came only seven hours after the Patrick radioed that the officer had at the utmost 12 hours to live, that death was certain if he was not placed in an iron lung.

The message touched off plans for a race against time and hinged on the ability of a PBV to land in the five-foot seas which were buffeting the Patrick.

As the last radio message crackled from the Patrick, 350 miles at sea, to Coast Guard headquarters here saying the stricken officer had died, a PBV crew was about to take off from Port Angeles, 77 miles to the northwest.

In the PBV was an iron lung. If the plane was able to land in the heavy seas, pilot Capt. R. R. Johnson was to have taken the man aboard and fly him to McChord Air Force Base near Tacoma.

In the event a landing was not possible, Johnson was to drop the iron lung to the ship.

The elaborate rescue plans were cancelled.

ing the wish the Scouts would "accept this opportunity to perform a national conservation Good Turn in 1954."

Ross L. Leffler, long time member of the Pennsylvania Game Commission and widely known as a conservationist and Boy Scout official is chairman of the planning committee for the Scouts' nation-wide conservation Good Turn program of 1954.

Beyond the economic and national safety aspects inherent in thrifty resource use, wild-lifers and informed hunters are conscious of the effects of soil and water management and the practices of humans on wildlife populations and their necessary environment. The Outdoor Code of the Scouts parallels that of sportsmen-conservationists. It will materially affect the outdoor manners of millions of people in the future. It is: 1. As an American, I will do my best to be clean in my outdoor manners. 2. Be careful with fire. 3. Be considerate (of property) in the outdoors. 4. Be conservation minded.

A new paper which provides multiple copies of letters or business forms without the use of carbon paper has been announced by the National Cash Register Company.

The treated paper utilizes the reaction of a colorless chemical coating with a clay-like material. It eliminates smudging and an end to the dirt and blotter of carbon paper inserts.

Called NCR (No Carbon Required) paper, the new product will be marketed in limited quantities this year and will be priced to compete with carbon paper systems, it was announced.

The process uses combinations of two different coatings on ordinary paper, depending on how many copies are desired. In a business form containing an original and two copies, for example, the underside of the first sheet is coated with the colorless chemical and the top-side of the second sheet with the clay-like material.

The impact of a typewriter character or the pressure of a pencil on the first sheet drives the colorless coating into contact with the clay-like coating on the second sheet. This causes an immediate chemical reaction which turns the clay-like material blue and leaves a sharp impression on the second sheet.

The back of the second sheet, also coated with the colorless chemical, in turn passes on the impression to the top of the third sheet, which again is coated with the clay-like material.

Up to seven copies can be made in this fashion on an electric typewriter and up to four handwritten copies.

Ike Advises Americans To Ignore Prophets Of Gloom

By JACK BELL

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Eisenhower has advised Americans to ignore "prophets of gloom" and has promised them a "big brother" partner in the federal government.

Addressing a cheering throng of more than 6,500 at a GOP box supper last night, Eisenhower saluted into Democratic predictions of hard times, saying "The United States doesn't need to fall."

And he emphasized he wants to conduct the presidency under the Constitution "in the same general form" as it now stands.

Hits Two Sets Of Critics

He spoke only 12 minutes. In that time he took on two sets of critics—those, like former President Harry S. Truman, who say the country is now in a recession, and those who have been calling for a constitutional amendment that would limit the scope of treaties and give Congress more control over international agreements.

"We don't have to listen to the prophets of gloom who say we are going into this or that kind of stumble or fall," he declared as the crowd cheered.

Then, without mentioning by name Sen. Bricker (R-Ohio), whose constitutional amendment on treaty powers he has opposed, Eisenhower said:

"Bricker says 'I Like Ike' 'We must make certain that the genius of our Constitution and our government shall not perish, that it shall belong . . . to those who come after us in the same general form that it has been received by us.'"

Bricker, who had preceded Eisenhower to the speakers' platform, touched off a roar of laughter when he alluded to the "family troubles" he said the Republicans have had.

"My Republican friends, I like Ike," he declared. The crowd howled approval.

Bricker said there had been "honest differences of opinion" but that the GOP has "a singleness of purpose."

No Split In GOP
"Let me make one thing clear," he said. "There is not now nor will there be, any split in the Republican party."

The President's brief sally against those who predict a further economic downturn was in line with repeated statements by administration and Republican party leaders that the country is undergoing no more than an adjustment which will run a natural course without serious trouble.

However, echoing the expressed views of many Democrats, Truman said in New York last night "The recession that started on the farms last spring has already spread to the city streets—and a depression would do likewise."

Truman spoke at a dinner meeting of Americans for Democratic Action.

The financial report showed $4,500 received from the county commissioners, $1,500 from the Gettysburg Community Chest, $100 from the Conewago Joint School System and $75 from three districts in the Upper Adams Jointure during the last month. Bills for the month totaling $1,349 were approved for payment.

Mrs. Wilson announced that the members of the board have donated eight books on garden and flower culture as a memorial to Mrs. William M. Lott, wife of the president of the library board. The library staff has given three similar volumes for the same memorial collection. Mrs. Lott died last month.

It also has been announced that Prof. Basil Crapster has donated two books on Mexico as a memorial to the late Mrs. Helen Keith Young.

Ten members of the board attended Friday's session.

According to the discussion this morning, two pounds of Malathion 25 per cent wettable powder should be used instead of the EPN-300 on McIntosh and related varieties to prevent russeting. Where

Dr. A. R. Wentz, president of the seminary, said Tuesday that the faculty plans to speed up the training of the seminarians in order to "do what we can to further the national war effort and meet the needs of the nation." The members of the present middle class, who under ordinary conditions would have graduated May, 1945, will be graduated next February as a result of the speed-up of the program.

Today's Talk

By GEORGE MATTHEW ADAMS

FIRST IMPRESSIONS

Our first impressions are the deepest and most memorable. They have an importance that is often overlooked. Our first meeting with a famous person will either raise or lower our admiration for him. Usually the success of a play at the theater is prophesied the first night. We get our greatest reading thrill from our first book.

All our towns and cities should have beautiful entrances, both by rail and road. To enter a city and view piled-up scrap and hideous holes in which everything seems to have been dumped, gives an immediate bad impression of the city itself, and so also of the people who have their homes there.

I like to see railroad stations kept neatly, with gardens and flowers about them, if there is room, as many have. Why should we enter a big city by the back door, where rubbish is so often thrown? My first visit to Hawaii was a thrilling experience. Just before the big boat lands, smaller craft are sent with flower leis for the passengers. Then from a balcony a band plays "Aloha" and you feel that this may be, after all, Heaven itself, as many think it to be anyway.

First impressions in selling are very important. The pleasant clerk sells the most goods. And the salesman on the road, with a clean mind and vibrant personality, gets immediate attention, and many are the plums that fall into his market basket! Into his pocket is recorded his sale, and behind him he leaves a trail of trust.

Bad first impressions are difficult to remove from the mind. The first impressions that an immigrant gets of this western world—Canada and the United States—are the ones that stay. How important that they prove to be good impressions!

THROUGHOUT LIFE

He took with him his mother's love,
His father's pride.
To them he rated all above.
With every stride
Wherever he went, to work or play,
Their trust he bore by night and day.

It did not take him long to learn,
When he stayed late,
That anxiously for his return
Awake they'd wait.
Before to manhood strong he grew
How much he meant to them he knew.

So with us all, through every hour,
At work or ease,
Loved ones and friends we have
The power
To hurt or please.
So much to them who trust we mean,
On us for peace of mind they mean.

DEFER STRIKE IN HARRISBURG FOR THREE DAYS

HARRISBURG (AP)—A last minute negotiating session, ending just five hours before the strike deadline, resulted in a three-day postponement of the walkout of 250 Harrisburg Railways Co. bus drivers and led to further talks Friday.

Union membership unanimously accepted the postponement, setting back the strike from 2 a. m. Friday to 2 a. m. Monday. At the same time members of Local 1436, Amalgamated Assn. of Street, Electric Railway and Motor Coach Employees of America (AFL), unanimously voted down a tentative settlement offer.

The company suggested a five cent an hour increase plus several fringe benefits. It had previously offered two cents an hour. The union is seeking 22 cents more.

13 At Last Meeting
The postponement came out of a 3½ hour meeting arranged by Mayor Claude Robins and G. Harry Young of the federal Conciliation Service. It was attended by 13 men from union and management and was the first joint conference since Monday in the contract dispute over wages.

The union's contract, calling for wages of $1.50 to $1.70 an hour, ran out Sunday night and Tuesday the local set a strike deadline.

Mayor Robins commented after Thursday night's meeting that he had asked for a postponement "so that I may have time to bring some harmony into this dispute."

The union's negotiating committee accepted the postponement request and recommended its acceptance to the union membership. However, the committee urged rejection of the company settlement proposal.

Have 13 Bus Lines
"We believe this company is not as bad off as it pretends to be," said John Elliott, international vice president of the union. The company has contended it cannot afford a higher wage scale.

Harrisburg Railways operates 13 bus lines in Harrisburg and surrounding suburban areas. The settlement proposal provided for a three week vacation after an unspecified period of service with the company and establishment of a guaranteed work week for extra employees. The company said it did not make the proposal in the form of a concrete offer but had promised to recommend such action to its directors if acceptable to the union.

Meanwhile, Local 1377 of the same union sits down with the Valley Transportation Co., operator of suburban West Shore Bus lines, in another negotiating session this afternoon. John Suoca, Valley president, said before the meeting that another session Tuesday or Wednesday is most likely.

Valley employees, seeking the same raise as Harrisburg Railways workers, have not set a strike deadline but have authorized a walkout. Valley has offered an increase of four cents an hour on top of wages similar to Harrisburg workers.

WIFE AND MATE RETURN $130 HE GOT IN HOLDUP

WILKES-BARRE, Pa. (AP)—A young coal miner in nearby Kingston stomped out of his house early Thursday night, burned up, he said later, because of hot words with his wife.

He told police she had poked fun at his inability to make more money than she earned at an office job.

As police got the story, here is what happened afterward:
The angry husband stopped at a few taverns for solace, and a bit later headed for a fruit market. His hand jammed in a coat pocket as if he had a gun.

He forced the proprietor, Philip Ansilio, and a customer, Hugo Hofstetter, to lie on the floor in a back room. He took $130 from the cash register and made off.

Flings Money To Wife
The husband got back home about 9, just as his wife was sitting down to watch the television show "Dragnet."

Shouting over the detective talk on the TV program, the husband said: "Money? Well, there's lots of money!" He flung the $130 in her lap.

Husband and wife talked it over against the background of "Dragnet" dialogue, characteristically emphasizing that crime pervers pays.

At 9:45 the couple showed up at the fruit market. Kingston Police Chief David Francis was there, too. "Here's your money back," said the husband, "I'm sorry." It was the wife who took the money out of her handbag and handed it over.

All Is Forgiven
"He really is sorry," she said. "We've had a lot of money worries."

"We've got problems," the husband put in. "But it was wrong what I did. I'm sorry."

"Well?" Chief Francis queried Ansilio.

Ansilio was moved. He looked reassuringly at the wife. Then: "I don't want to prosecute."

The chief said that was all right with him.

Husband and wife walked out of the store, arm in arm.

Their names were not disclosed.

HE REPENTS AND GIVES UP LOOT

WILKES-BARRE, Pa. (AP)—James Kulick, 27, of Swoyersville, who repented and confessed to a robbery, has been paroled in police custody while a court ponders sentence.

Kulick returned $130 he had gotten in a holdup Thursday from Kingston fruit market proprietor Philip Ansilio.

He handed the money back while Kingston Police Chief David Francis looked on. Although Ansilio said he did not want to prefer charges, Francis ruled that he must arrest Kulick.

Kulick pleaded guilty yesterday before Judge J. Harold Flannery who then deferred immediate sentence and paroled the repentant robber in custody of Francis.

Police said Kulick committed the holdup after his wife poked fun at him for his inability to make more money. They said he handed her the money and told her of the robbery. The two talked it over and Kulick decided to return the money.

TRUMAN SCOFFS GOP PROGRAM IN RADIO TALK

NEW YORK (AP)—Former President Harry S. Truman said last night that "the recession that started on the farms last spring has already spread to the city streets—and a depression would do likewise." He scoffed at the "miracles" he said were promised by the Republican party.

In a speech before the Americans for Democratic Action, Truman said, "I don't think there is any necessity for a depression."

Hits Tax Program
"One thing is clear by now after a year of the Eisenhower administration," Truman said, "and that is the Republican party is not made up of miracle workers."

"I have been watching and waiting for those miracles to happen that we were promised back in 1952. But there is something wrong somewhere. There seems to be a slight delay in the miracle business."

Truman ripped into the present administration's income tax cut, terming it "a rich man's tax relief measure if I ever heard of one."

Truman spoke to a nationwide (CBS) radio audience as well as to the more than 1,000 persons at the ADA banquet in the Waldorf-Astoria Hotel.

Emotional Quality Of Novel Can Be Vital For Movie Maker

By W. G. ROGERS

(ADVANCE) NEW YORK (AP)—The best answer I got, when I asked Stanley Kramer why he picked one novel instead of another to turn into a film, really came from Mrs. Kramer:

"He picks the novel that matters most to him, that strikes close to his heart."

The producer himself, here talking up his plans for a movie from the Literary Guild selection, "Not As a Stranger," went on to say:

"I like your Lucas Marsh, hero of Morton Thompson's novel, because of a certain intensity in him. The moment I read the story, I knew that Marsh wanted to be the damnedest best doctor in the world. And that was what convinced me this was a film."

Mysterious Process
To a bookman in New York, nothing is quite so mysterious as the selections made by Hollywood producers of novels to make into films—nothing so mysterious, to be sure, unless it's the films they make.

With the Kramers in town, this reporter had a chance to investigate. If the answers were more satisfying than he expected, no doubt it was because Kramer is Kramer. The Navy has just commended him with a "Well done" for his movie from Herman Wouk's "The Caine Mutiny." Discriminating moviegoers have high praise for other Kramer productions, such as "Home of the Brave," "Cyrano de Bergerac" and "High Noon."

While some reviewers liked "Not As a Stranger" very much, this reviewer did not. But Kramer with a book in his hands is not so much a novel reader, or a novel critic, as he is a movie maker. He reads, apparently, in scenes. He looks for the qualities in the novel which he can adapt to Hollywood processes, which he can expand according to his own ideas, for instance, in this case:

Show Spirit Of Book
The department store with this central character possessed with a burning desire to become a doctor. He will be believable, and though some may find him shocking, he will be a correct portrayal—my own research, added to Thompson's, will assure that he will express the noblest ideals of the medical profession, but he'll express them in human terms, by contrast, by making mistakes himself. Then at the end of the movie, when he states his credo, you will accept it all the more readily because you will know he has arrived at it the hard way.

"In one respect this compares, as a creative problem, with 'The Caine Mutiny.' It tells frankly of a disillusionment, but it also tells of the ideal to strive for, the ideal which, by contrast, becomes even more appealing."

The first novel he has selected since "The Mutiny" three years ago, this came to him in galleys last fall, and he decided on it before he had an idea it might become a best seller.

Crucial Scene
"Going through it, I stopped every now and then to read passages to my wife. What really persuaded me was the scene where the medical students discuss their future. One young man says the rich get as sick as the poor, and need a doctor, too, and he intends to open an office in New York and cater to the wealthy. Lucas is shocked at a man to whom even the idea of money can occur in connection with the profession which to him is a calling."

Kramer hopes to have the picture, his 18th, done by the end of the year. "It seems to me to call for an all-star cast. For instance, I would like to have Marlon Brando do the doctor. I have already talked to Ingrid Bergman about the role of the nurse and wife."

Born in this city in 1913, with relatives who worked at film distribution, Kramer was graduated from New York University in 1933. His first Hollywood job was straight laborer and handy man, at $18 a week. Then he cut film, edited, wrote and sold some scripts. He was in the Army.

Carlisle Rumps To 59-39 Victory Over Warriors; Scrubs Lose Opener 42-32

A fast-breaking and hard driving Carlisle High School basketball team outclassed the Gettysburg High Warriors, 59-39, here Friday evening in a South Penn League game, the visitors holding a comfortable lead from start to finish.

The taller Herd team employed a zone defense to good advantage throughout with the result that most of the Warriors' dozen came from long angles.

Immediately after the opening tap-off Burba scored on a layup for the visitors and then Bobby Rohrbach netted a side shot for the Warriors. Washington dribbled through for a twin-pointer, Schmitt and Washington traded fouls. Four straight goals, one by Delancy and two by Washington and another by Lincoln, gave the visitors a 13-3 lead six minutes. Schmitt hooped a foul and George Penn converted two but Burba sank a jump shot. Ronnie Williams' one-handed shot dropped through as the quarter ended with Carlisle in front 15-8.

The second quarter got wild and woolly at spots as both teams raced up and down court, missing shots, intercepting and mugging passes. Midway in the period the Herd led 23-11. It was not until the final minute of play that Gettysburg tabbed its lone field goal of the period, Penn connecting on a one-hander. At half time Carlisle led 28-14.

Warriors "Rally"
Coach Forney's outfit started to connect from the floor in the third period and managed to outscore the invaders but only by a single point. Penn and Rober Zelen each landed a pair with Jeff Langsam and Schmitt each hitting once. Burba, Washington and Lincoln kept Carlisle in front 38-27 as the quarter ended.

A pair of goals by Burba and two more by Brehm gave the Green and White a fool-proof lead in the first three minutes of the last quarter and it was not long afterwards that the reserves swung into action.

The eight points each by Penn and Schmitt made them the high scorers for the Warriors. E. Burba topped the visitors with 15 points and Clyde Washington and Vance Brehm each chipped in with 13.

Hershey Here Tuesday
It marked the sixth loss in 14 starts for the Warriors who next meet Hershey, conquerors of Chambersburg, here Tuesday evening in another league game.

The Warriors reserves also suffered a reverse, dropping the preliminary 42-32. At half time Carlisle held a scant 14-13 lead but piled up a 32-23 lead at the end of the third period to breeze through handily.

Boiling Springs won its 10th straight Adams County League game Friday evening by drubbing the invading New Oxford high cagers 72-28 to remain one game ahead of Biglerville. Bud Ecker's outfit, who now have an 18-2 overall season record, led the whole way as Don Kuntz poured through 20 points with Leroy Bream and Eddie Dasher adding 18 and 12. At half time the score was 32-16. Wiseman and Spangler landed 10 and 9 for New Oxford.

Dick Allison's Biglerville outfit was given stiff opposition by Fairfield in the first quarter but the Cannons swept ahead 28-16 in the second period and captured a 69-30 victory on the Hotel Gettysburg Annex floor. Don Wright and Terry Hutton ran wild for the winners with 30 and 25 points, respectively. Gary Dolly loomed 12 for Fairfield.

York Springs took over sole possession of third place by routing East Berlin 71-46 in the losers' court. Pete Kemper's lads outscored their opponents in each period and were paced by Lynn Gould who netted 30 points, 10 coming on a perfect record from the foul line. The Springers made 25 of 30 charity tries. Glenn Gruver was high man for the Indians with 11.

The Littlestown Thunderbolts handed Newville its 10th straight setback 76-28 at Littlestown as the Bolts completely outclassed the Cumberland County quintet. Dean Yealy, Jay Showmaker and Stan Mummert carried the brunt of the attack for the Bolts while Paul Martin landed 10 for Newville.

GIARDELLO IS TKO WINNER OVER CARTIER

NEW YORK (AP) — "From now on, call me Jolting Joey."
Joe Giardello, a technical knock-out winner over Walter Cartier in 2:48 of the first round, was talking about himself last night in his dressing room.

"I like the feel of those knock-downs," he said. "I've been letting those guys get off the hook too long. From now on, I'm out to stop 'em all."

Floored 3 Times
It was the second straight fight in which Joe's opponent had failed to last the limit. He stopped Garth Panter, the rugged Salt Lake City mauler, in his last previous start, Jan. 8. That was the first time Panter hadn't gone the route.

Giardello dropped Cartier three times, automatically stopping the fight under rules of the New York State Athletic Commission. Referee Harry Kessler ended matters as soon as the 29-year-old New York veteran went down for the third time, all from right hands. Cartier weighed 161 to Giardello's 157½.

A crowd of 4,851 paid $13,378 to see the nationally televised fight.

EAST MAY HAVE 2 GRID LOOPS

SYRACUSE, N. Y. (AP) — The East may have two football leagues in operation by 1956.
Lewis P. Andreas, Syracuse University athletic director, said yesterday that an eastern league or conference, including Syracuse, "could be formed this spring and actually in operation by 1956 or 1957."

Formation of a formal Ivy Football League is expected to be announced soon by the presidents of eight colleges which have been working out plans for a round-robin to start in 1956. The Ivy eight are Penn, Princeton, Cornell, Columbia, Brown, Yale, Dartmouth and Harvard.

Andreas said "what I hope is that an organization would be formed to start operations about 1956."

He pointed out that schedules are made two or three years in advance so it probably would be at least two more years before an Eastern Conference could get going on the gridirons.

The suggestion for an eastern group was brought up at the end of the past season by Villanova's athletic director, Ambrose (Bud) Dudley.

South Penn Calls Baseball Meeting

Spring is in the air.
An organization meeting for the South Penn Baseball League has been called for Thursday evening, February 18, at 7:30 o'clock at the American Legion Home, Baltimore St. It was announced today by Chester Shriver, secretary.

All members of last year's league are asked to have representatives present. If a majority of teams are represented at the initial meeting, officers will be elected.

GROTH AND LIPON ARE TRADED FOR MELE AND BERRY

NEW YORK (AP) — Outfielder Chuck Diering, who couldn't make the grade with the St. Louis Cardinals and the New York Giants of the National League, today loomed as a key figure in the plans of the Baltimore Orioles for the upcoming season.

Diering, who was listed as Johnny Groth's No. 1 replacement in the Orioles' centerfield spot, now is expected to get first crack at the job.

Groth and infielder Johnny Lipon were traded to the Chicago White Sox yesterday for outfielder Sam Mele and infielder Neil Berry. No cash was involved.

Phils Sign Ennis
The 31-year-old Diering, a light hitter during his National League tenure, reportedly picked up some batting points at Minneapolis last season, for he batted .2, cracked out 12 home runs and drove in 74 runs.

Elsewhere on the baseball front, the Philadelphia Phillies came to terms with outfielder Del Ennis for an estimated $25,000. Ennis batted .285 in 1953.

The Milwaukee Braves came up with two satisfied players yesterday—outfielders Andy Pafko and pitcher Jim Wilson. Others to sign were southpaw pitcher Morris Martin of the Philadelphia Athletics; pitcher Max Surkont, catcher Pete Naton and first sacker Dale Coogan of Pittsburgh and rookie pitcher Vachel Perkins of Baltimore.

Andreas said "what I hope is that an organization would be formed to start operations about 1956."

KENTUCKY MAY BLOCK MOVE BY PAUL BRYANT

LEXINGTON, Ky., Feb. 6 (AP) — Kentucky athletic officials appeared today in a frame of mind to hold football coach Paul Bryant to his contract and possibly block his agreement to coach at Texas A & M.

The storm stirred up by Bryant's sudden announcement Thursday that he was leaving with nine days to run on his contract was whipped to a fury yesterday when: 1. Dr. H. L. Donovan, school president, said he would not recommend acceptance of the resignation, leaving Bryant obligated to his contract.

2. A source close to the association said its members most likely will take no action on the resignation, leaving Bryant obligated to his contract.

Poses A Question
This posed a question of whether Texas A & M officials will sign Bryant to a contract before he gets an outright release from Kentucky.

W. L. Penberthy, chairman of the Aggie athletic council, said when asked last night what Texas A & M might do under such circumstances:

"I just don't know. I'm not in a position to say."
He added, however, that A & M President David H. Morgan understood that Bryant's acceptance was contingent upon his resignation and that there would be no difficulties at Kentucky.

The locals held their opponents scoreless from the field in the first period and piled up a 10-2 lead but then sagged in the second frame but held to a 17-14 half time advantage.

Outfighting the rugged Carlisle team throughout the last half, the Sachs-men slowly built up a wider margin.
R. Little landed nine points for the winners while Zinn and Dittenhafer collected a similar number for Carlisle.

The Carlisle Jayvees swept off to a 16-6 lead in the first period and went on to a 41-31 decision in the preliminary despite a mild comeback during the second half on the part of the local reserves.

News Of Special Interest To The Automobile Owners Of Adams County

State Automobile Dealers Aid Driver Training Program In H.S.

Pennsylvania's automobile dealers are contributing approximately one million dollars to safety education in the Commonwealth with their support of the driver training program in the State's high schools, it was reported today by Claude S. Klugh, of Harrisburg, general manager of the Pennsylvania Automotive Association.

Pledging the continued support of the program wherever possible, Klugh announced that dealers are now contributing that figure by providing about 400 cars for use in driver training programs.

Ivan J. Stehman, chief of Highway Safety Education in the State Department of Public Instruction, recently reported there are now an estimated 444 high schools in the State offering driver education and about 45,000 students participate.

Started In 1930's

"Although driver training got its start in Pennsylvania in the early 1930's," Klugh said, "the program did not gain impetus in this State until about eight years ago when the automobile dealer got behind the movement. Dealers hope to see the time when the course is available in each of the State's 927 high schools, providing the opportunity for every student who wishes to do so to avail himself of such training."

Explaining that the driver training program is entirely under the control of the school district, Klugh said inauguration of such courses results strictly from the decision of the school district to install it. "Arrangements for the use of a car in the behind-the-wheel phase of the course where the program has been installed are made between school officials and the local automobile dealers," the official added.

Loan Vehicle Free

"The dealer loans the vehicle to the school district at no charge, with schools paying the maintenance cost of the vehicle," he continued. "All that is required of the school is that they have a qualified instructor — a teacher certified by the State Department of Public Instruction as eligible to conduct the course — and provide time for the course in the school schedule."

Klugh said the State's new car dealers feel that since they sell cars to the public they can make a contribution to highway safety through support of a program designed to train drivers in safe and sound driving practices.

"Through driver training programs in our high schools we can feel assured that our youths will be properly trained when they reach the age at which they are permitted to drive," Klugh said.

Favors Early Start

The PAA official's views on the value and benefit of teaching safe driving practices to high school students has been endorsed by State Secretary of Revenue Otto F. Messner who declared: "The time to acquire proficiency and a respect for law and the other fellow's rights is at the very outset of a driving career."

In a report on the latest periodic survey of the driving records of the young operators who have driver education in high school and those who did not benefit by such instruction, Messner pointed out that comparative records kept over the past 3½ years of the driving careers of 3,000 youngsters, half of whom had driver training, have confirmed the belief that expert early teaching is the surest way to bring about safety on the highways.

Have More Accidents

"Young people who did not take this classroom and behind-the-wheel instruction in high school have been involved in more than 2½ times as many accidents as the ones with this training," the official said. "Moreover, nearly four times as many of them have been arrested for moving traffic violations."

In pledging the continued support of the State's new car dealers to the driver training program in Pennsylvania's high schools, Klugh praised the Pennsylvania Legislature on "its foresight to see the advantages of providing instruction in driving for our youngsters."

The Legislature in 1951 provided funds to schools to help in financing the program. The General Assembly increased the fee for learners' permits from $2 to $4, with the increase earmarked for driving training. Schools offering a course in driver training are reimbursed by the State at $10 per pupil for those enrolled.

SCHOOL BOYS LEARNING HOW TO REPAIR CARS

Typical of the training in auto body repairing and painting being taken by 12 Allentown High School vocational department pupils in five garages in that city is that of Franklin Kale at the Dietrich Motor Company.

It is part of the cooperative program provided for certain chosen boys in the vocational department, in which they spend half their time in school getting basic educational work and half at work in the city's shops receiving practical experience in the work-a-day world.

Learning All Phases

Kale is learning all the phases of taking the bangs and bumps out of bodies. He has an able instructor in the person of Frank Reichl, an Austrian who learned his trade in the "old country" and who was tabbed by instructors at the General Motors school as "one of the best in the business."

The boys under his care learn their trade thoroughly. One of them spoke admiringly of their instructor, "Boy, that man knows the sheet metal game." Reichl differs from many teachers of vocational subjects. He knows his quality of being able to impart his knowledge to the boys working with him.

Taught Metal Work

Kale is taught metal work, including the straightening of sheet metal, aligning, shaping, welding. Also upholstery work including the removing of head linings, plus the placing of floor carpets, moldings, cleaning up used cars and shampooing the upholstery is learned.

Other phases of the metal work include bringing and fixing up wrecks, radiator repair and the replacing of hardware.

He also does body painting, which includes preparation of the surface, priming and painting the finish coat. Also he is taught the use of polishes.

Officials Enthused

Dietrich officials are enthusiastic about the work. As a company spokesman pointed out, the supervision is more rigid than in school. The boys are paid for their work and seem to take a greater pride of accomplishment in doing a good job.

"We are only too glad to keep them after their graduation. They have a good background when they start as regular employees and are able to move ahead much more rapidly," the spokesman said, concluding with, "I wish that when I had started I had had the same opportunities that these boys get today."

Ike's Brother To Be Honored Today

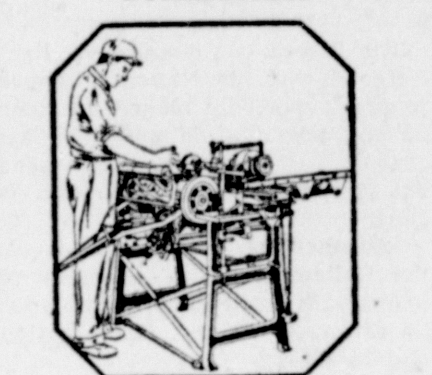

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Milton Eisenhower of Pennsylvania State University is being honored today by more than 600 alumni of Pennsylvania colleges and schools. His brother, President Dwight Eisenhower, will be among the guests.

John J. McGinty, an Olyphant, Pa., lawyer now practicing in Washington, said the luncheon is being given the Penn State president because he was chosen as the outstanding educator of Pennsylvania.

The selection was made by the All-Pennsylvania Alumni Assn. of Washington, sponsors of the luncheon.

MANILA (AP)—The Panamanian freighter Liberal radioed Friday that she had picked up two boatloads of crewmen from the British motorship Fernmoor, which ripped open its bottom on a reef in the South China Sea.

The U.S. Navy base at Sangley Point near here said the Liberal reported that other members of the Fernmoor's crew were standing by the sinking ship.

Farmer Denies He Violated Game Law

HUNTINGDON, Pa. (AP)—A Huntingdon County farmer, who claims he was "framed" in a game law case, will appear in court here again next Thursday when additional testimony will be taken in his appeal.

The farmer, John Corceus, was charged with illegal possession of a dead deer. He had pleaded guilty and was fined $100. He paid $30 of the fine and then appealed to the Huntingdon County Court, claiming Richard Green, Huntingdon, district game protector, "framed" him into the act.

A question at issue in testimony on the appeal taken yesterday before Judge Swirls L. Himes was whether the farmer invited the game protector to witness killing of the deer last Oct. 20.
